

Virtual Coaching

WHY SHOULD I SIGN UP FOR VIRTUAL COACHING?

Real-time mentoring

Did you ever wish a coach could visually walk you through a trading session? Virtual Coaching is your gateway to live, online instruction and running market commentary by Investools staff who are active investors. They'll discuss what's happening in the markets right now, so you can gain an understanding of how current events—including natural disasters, commodity shortages, earnings announcements and political upheavals—may affect your investments. You'll also learn ways to adjust your portfolio to take advantage of these changes as they happen.

Watch, listen and learn

Virtual Coaching is open 14 continuous hours, every trading day. That means you can listen in whenever you have the time, without leaving your home or office. Examples are taken live from the markets, so you'll never hear the same one twice. These interactive sessions include Q&A covering everything from trade examples to global issues. Topics cover many of the concepts taught in the Investing Foundation and Basic Options Courses.

Keep your portfolio above water, even in rough seas

By listening to experienced investors as they dissect and discuss actual trading examples, you'll discover how they analyze market moves, as well as how economic news can affect the market. You'll also find out which types of investments are appropriate under various circumstances.

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

- How current events can affect your investments—positively or negatively
- Ways to take advantage of economic news by changing your investment strategy
- How to analyze market moves using the tools available in the Investor Toolbox®
- Which types of investments are appropriate when circumstances change, and how to choose the ones that fit your investing style

WHAT'S INCLUDED?

- Access to Virtual Coaching sessions 14 hours a day, every trading day
- Interactive sessions that draw examples from the markets
- Real-time Q&A
